Subject/Objet: Research Department Sector Lead Responsibilities

Greetings,

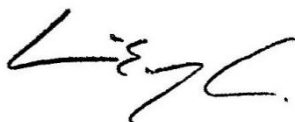

In order to best develop and use sector expertise, each member of our team continues to be allocated a number of major sectors for lead-hand responsibilities. There are no major changes to current assignments, but we've now included a few sectors that were not previously identified (please see attached list).

With lead-hand responsibilities, Department staff take the initial lead on policy work, bargaining support, and related campaign support in their sectors. Of course the need for resources will not always be even across sectors; at times various staff will pitch-in on major initiatives when more resources are required, and we continue to work collaboratively on developing long-term policy direction.

Please feel free to contact the relevant Department member directly for ongoing research support that arises from workplaces in their sectors. And for workplaces that do not fit one of the sectors identified, please contact me and we'll make arrangements for appropriate support.

Feel free to contact me should you have any questions.

In Solidarity,

Bill Murnighan
Director
Research Department
